CERTIFIED MAIL

NOTICE OF NONCOMPLIANCE

Mr. Jack Hessel
Jack's Auto Wrecking
9800 N. Market
Spokane, Washington 99207

Dear Mr. Hessel:

On December 14, 1982, an EPA inspection was performed by Jake Newland at Jack's Auto Wrecking, Spokane, Washington. The inspection was carried out to determine compliance with the PCB Regulations adopted by EPA pursuant to the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA).

During the inspection, a violation of the regulations was noted. You should be aware that violations of TSCA may be subject to administrative civil penalties. At the conclusion of the inspection, Mr. Newland discussed his preliminary findings with you. The following identifies in detail the violations observed during the inspection:

Marking

40 CFR 761.40 requires that all PCB Containers, PCB Transformers and Large PCB Capacitors be marked in accordance with 40 CFR 761.45 unless the equipment is too small to accommodate the 6 X 6 inch PCB label.

A large high voltage General Electric capacitor containing "pyranol" was observed during the inspection. The capacitor failed to bear the required PCB label. We have enclosed a PCB label for your use, as well as, a copy of the PCB regulations dealing with this chemical.

Please note the special handling requirements for PCB equipment. We would appreciate hearing that you have taken the appropriate corrective actions to bring your facility into compliance with these regulations within 30 days of your receipt of this letter.

Sincerely,

Alexandra B. Smith

PCB INSPECTION REPORT

Jack's Auto Wrecking
9800 N. Market
Spokane, Washington 99207

Date of Inspection: December 14, 1982

Inspector: John F. Newland JFN
Environmental Engineer
Field Operations Section
Environmental Services Division, EPA

Facility Representative: Jack Hessel, Owner

Background:

No PCB information was available for this facility in EPA files.

Jack's Auto Wrecking is a sizable wrecking yard on the outskirts of Spokane with many junk cars and a few old appliances. The Company has several sheds full of auto parts.

Inspection Conference:

I presented my credentials to Jack Hessel, Owner of Jack's Auto Wrecking and gave him copies of the Notice of Inspection and the Confidentiality Notice. (Attachments A & B).

Mr. Hessel stated he was not a scrap metal dealer and did not scrap power transformers nor did he have transformer oil. He gave me permission to look through all storage and yard areas.

Inspection:

One large capacitor was found in the parts warehouse near the office. This capacitor was labeled "General Electric" and "Pyranol". Mr. Hessel said that was the only large capacitor he had and that he planned to use it in an electromagnet he planned to build. He was not clear on how he got it but mentioned surplus sales at Fairchild Air Base. The capacitor was not labeled with the prescribed mark. I informed Mr. Hessel of the marking requirement, disposal requirements, and the potential hazards of PCB. No other PCB items were found during the inspection.
